

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

I am a senior citizen on a fixed income and my cell phone is my safety net when I am away from home. I cannot afford higher charges for this necessity. If the rates are increased because of this change, I will have to give up my cell phone since there is no other expense I can cut any further.

It is increasingly frustrating when our costs keep rising and our incomes stay the same. Most seniors must make do with very limited resources. Please don't deplete them further!

Sincerely,

Marlene Denenberg
